
Title: Mary

Author: Mary

Mary looked up at the sky. Happy she lived to see another day
again she smiled.
After picking out a nice pair of robes she decided to wear her leather. Brandishing a newly tailored suit

of barbed leather dyed a deep hue of red she put on the bandanna that covered
her racial heritage.
"Proper elves do not make there selves

know in the world of man" she told herself, After dressing she stepped out into the sun from her tower
she lived in. Recalling to the nearest town she retrieved her

Ostard from the stables and mounted it.
Gating to the nearest moon gate she stepped through back into Trammel.
Takeing a deep breath of fresh air she rode off to the guild. Met up with her husband and daughter and after Idle chat of what might have been, if she and her freinds

had failed procceded to the treasure hunt she has been invited to.

Smileing she thought about the past few weeks. Her losses her gains . How for once in her life she had a real adventure. She was at home for once

...she was at home